Experience, Integrity, Ability Qualify Hickey For Election to Board

In the words of his former opponent, Ralph C. McArthur, "a vote for Mr. (Tom) Hickey is a vote for good government."

That sums up concisely the reasons why we have recommended to voters who wish advice on the Nov. 5 supervisorial election that they support Mr. Hickey, who has 16 years of service as supervisor to qualify him as a public servant of proven ability.

In a letter published on this page, Mr. McArthur explains in detail the reasons he believes Mr. Hickey will be an asset to good county government.

The fact that Mr. Hickey was high man in the county primary shows that voters appreciate his ability, but to those unfamiliar with "Fighting Tom" Hickey, here are the reasons why we recommend his election:

1. He is a bluff, hearty, genial Irishman who has earned his nickname through vigorous advocacy of progressive developments—the Community Hospital, the Bayshore Highway, the underpass at South San Francisco.

2. He is known county-wide for his honesty and independence and—what is very important—for the fact that he has no allegiance to any of the cliques which have dominated, or attempted to dominate county politics.

3. He is in a position to devote all his time to the job of being supervisor.

These are qualities needed in the men directing this county's government. Tom Hickey was a good supervisor for 16 years. He will be a good one again if the voters appreciate these qualities.

Hickey's Return to Office Vitaly Important Matter

If outstanding accomplishment counts for anything in this community, former Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey will be re-elected with an overwhelming majority.

It would be extremely difficult to find another man of such remarkable honesty and integrity.

And, at that, he is the most congenial and unassuming man in and out of public life anyone wants to meet. Hickey is a real, whole hearted San Matean, ever ready and willing to do his share for the welfare and benefit of the community.

THOMAS L. HICKEY

In the first township of San Mateo County as is personified in Thomas L. Hickey.

For many years, Hickey served this district as no other man ever did or will do. His whole heart and soul was wrapped up in his work and there never was or ever will be a single matter of township interest without Supervisor Hickey giving it his all.

Supervisor Hickey was the father of Community Hospital and instead of wasting money on expensive bond issues, he insisted that it be paid for, demanding new bids on the $700,000 structure, thereby reducing the cost about $100,000. He always insisted on local industry getting the preference. When the construction of Junipero Serra Blvd. was planned, he succeeded in getting the City and County of San Francisco to put up $1,100,000 of the total cost of $2,100,000. He has done more for good roads and public improvements than any other man ever serving in an official capacity.

And, at that, he is the most congenial and unassuming man in and out of public life anyone wants to meet. Hickey is a real, whole hearted San Matean, ever ready and willing to do his share for the welfare and benefit of the community.

YMCA Mobilization Call Set for Nov. 11

Every YMCA club in this area today was preparing to answer a mobilization call Nov. 11 at Menlo Park and participate in a patriotic demonstration.

The mobilization program that day will demonstrate four YMCA points, leaders explained, including:

1. Ability of the YMCA, as a youth organization, to call together and handle large groups of boys at a moment's notice.
2. Participation in the parade and ceremony to be conducted Armistice Day in Menlo Park.
3. Demonstration to citizens that the YMCA does promote patriotism in its program and does take part in civic and patriotic affairs.
4. YMCA Volunteer Club leaders have ability and will accept responsibility of complete supervision of groups of boys.

"We are not asking for a war mobilization nor for a training mobilization," officials in charge asserted.

Mission Trails Bell To Be Installed Here

Returned to Redwood City today was that Mission Trails bell which has spent the Summer on Treasure Island.

The bell and standard were removed from El Camino Real near Broadway last June for use near the building of the Mission Trails Association at the exposition, and will be installed along the highway in the near future, Roscoe D. Wyatt, secretary-manager of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce said.

The standard for the bell is expected "home" this week.

13 Applications Filed For City Clerk Post

From 13 applications, Redwood City's new clerk-treasurer will be selected by the council next Monday evening, City Manager C. L. Dimmitt predicted today. All council members informally have reviewed the applications, Dimmitt said.

County Debt Five Million

SAN MATEO—County governments—the county, cities, schools, and special and assessment districts—owed $5,031,630 in bonded debt at the close of the 1939 fiscal year, according to a study of bonded debt in California counties, just made public by California Taxpayers' Association.

Average local bonded debt for each of the 109,298 persons in the county as shown by preliminary census figures was $46.04, the association stated. Of the $5,031,630 total bonded debt in the county, $574,500 was owed by the county government, $1,989,500 by the school districts, $194,559 by special and assessment districts, and $2,273,071 by municipalities within the county, the association found.

Ralph C. MacArthur Endorses

Thomas L. Hickey For Supervisor, 1st District

READ THIS LETTER:

RALPH C. MacARTHUR
General Contractor—Insurance—Real Estate
Daly City, California

TO ALL OF MY FRIENDS
IN SAN MATEO COUNTY:

At the primary election, you accorded me kind and generous support in my campaign for supervisor of the 1st district and every vote I received was greatly appreciated.

However, inasmuch as the run-off of this election now concerns two other men from my district, many citizens have asked me to express to the voters my opinion of which of these fellow citizens can best serve the county in this important post.

To all who may be desirous of such information, I heartily and sincerely recommend THOMAS L. HICKEY.

Mr. Hickey, who was high man in the primary election, has an enviable record as a civic worker; he accomplished more during his term of office on the board than any other man in office at the time; he has a record of absolute honesty and integrity as a business man and county official and believes in fairness to all.

In addition to this, Mr. Hickey has agreed to devote full time to the office which is tangible evidence of his sincere desire to again serve the county and its citizens. He is thoroughly experienced in business and government and will prove of invaluable aid in bringing to our county affairs the strong leadership and harmonious, efficient, economical operation that we as taxpayers desire in our county government.

I confidently feel that your vote for Mr. Hickey will be a vote for good government.

Cordially yours,
RALPH C. MacARTHUR

MENLO PARK NEWS NOTES

MENLO PARK—From the tabulation made at the local Republican headquarters, it is believed Wendell Willkie will receive a two to one vote over President Roosevelt. The voters are against the third term proposition.

In San Francisco last week a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Cox. Both parents are well known in Menlo Park and have many friends and relatives here.

The contest for supervisor to be decided on Nov. 5 appears to be in favor of Dan Dolan of Daly City. His vote in Menlo Park will be overwhelming.

Charles Russell, who was born in Mayfield and spent his boyhood in Menlo Park, passed away in San Francisco last Monday. He was buried in Holy Cross cemetery. Mr. Russell was a retired policeman. Mrs. W. A. Doyle of Menlo Park is his surviving sister. Mr. Russell was one of the party that left here for the Klondike during the boom days in 1898. He soon returned and shortly afterwards, joined the police force.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bruce and their young son, Terry, of Fresno, attended the big game at Stanford last Saturday. They stopped over for dinner with Mrs. Dorothy Fredericks (nee Bruce). Mr. Bruce is a prominent raisin grower of the southern city.

A valuable new organ, the gift of one of the parishioners, was installed in Trinity Episcopal Church this week. The blessing of the instrument will take place with impressive ceremonies in a short time.

Native Daughters of the Golden West will sponsor a whist party in the grammar school Nov. 7 for the Homeless Children. Mrs. Frank Maloney is chairman. Admission cards are 25 cents. Turkeys will be among the many prizes to be awarded.

The Republican rally in Kuck's Gardens Tuesday evening was largely attended by enthusiastic Willkie followers. James Brennan of San Francisco delivered a powerful address in which he flayed the present administration and denounced President Roosevelt's third term aspirations. Short talks were made by Mayor Day of Menlo Park and Mayor J. Howell of Atherton. James T. O'Keefe Jr. presided. Much of the success of the meeting is due to the efforts of Mrs. W. J. Mahaney, in charge of the

"Salad Celebrity Week" Stars Mary Martin's Favorite Recipe

*Appetizing Mayonnaise Variation
Her Favorite Salad Treat*

SAYS Mary Martin, Star of Stage, Screen and Radio, "I just love a Fruit Salad with Raspberry Mayonnaise."

Miss Martin voiced her choice for local food merchants who are now staging "Salad Celebrity Week" throughout the town, and highlighting the occasion with many refreshing and healthful salad-time menu suggestions.

Raspberry Mayonnaise is indeed a colorful addition to the season's salad plans, and one which is sure to tempt the appetite and please the palate. Old stand-bys gain new dash and sparkle with this easily prepared mayonnaise variation.

Here's the recipe for Mary Martin's favorite:

Raspberry Mayonnaise
1/2 cup Best Foods real mayonnaise
2 tablespoons raspberry jelly
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/16 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup cream, whipped

Break up raspberry jelly with a silver fork. Add real mayonnaise, lemon juice and salt. Fold into whipped cream. Serve with Fruit Salad. Yield: 1 cup mayonnaise.

Former R. C. Man Dies Of Illness in S. F.

Charles H. Feldbusch, retired pharmacist and a former Redwood City resident who served on many superior court juries, died of illness Sunday in San Francisco.

The native San Franciscan performed jury service and made many friends among attaches of the San Mateo County Courthouse while residing at 1429 Jefferson St., Redwood City, from 1927 to 1937.

He had lived in San Francisco the last three years.

Survivors include one granddaughter, Bernice Feldbusch who formerly attended Mt. Carmel and Notre Dame schools on the

Shipbuilding Boom Described to Club

Shipbuilding has become such a boom industry that one San Francisco plant alone has $260,000,000 in unfilled orders and within 1½ years will increase its staff from its present 2300 employees to 12,000.

This fact was revealed to the Redwood City Exchange Club Tuesday by Miller Laughton of San Mateo, manager of the Union Iron Works, San Francisco shipbuilding subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel Co., who said that the figures quoted referred to his firm alone and that other companies had similar business ahead of them.

Laughton detailed the various steps in the construction of ships, declaring that because of the carefulness in construction of vessels maintained by United States firms, this country's merchant marine had fewer lives lost than any other nation's. He told of the development of shipbuilding in the past two decades, stressing particularly the replacement of riveting by welding—a process that has lightened weight of ships by 10 per cent.

Difficulties in finding skilled workmen were described by the speaker, who pointed out that while his firm now employs 2300 men and will increase the number five times in the next 18 months, only a year ago the plant had but 600 men at work. Of the total now employed, only 36 are common laborers, he said, the rest being highly skilled workmen.

C. L. Stokes, a superintendent for Bethlehem Steel, was chairman of last night's meeting.

FIRE DAMAGES KITCHEN

Thirty-five dollars damage was caused Tuesday in a kitchen fire at the home of H. A. Ruffoni, 580 Page St., North Fair Oaks, the county fire department reported today. Cause of the blaze was said to be a defective flue.

'Foreign Correspondent' Coming

Fun in a hotel room as Laraine Day and Joel McCrea prepare to outwit some international gangsters during the thrill-packed action of Walter Wanger's "Foreign Correspondent," which was directed by Alfred Hitchcock for United Artists release and is billed for a run at the Sequoia Theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Men's Pet Peeves Turned Up by Survey

Take research folks with summer-time on their hands and there is no telling what they will stir around and dig up for you. Here comes the report of Hooper-Holmes Bureau, national survey people, concerning men's pet peeves.

The married members in 101 cities were asked to list the items of the little woman's cooking in the order of their disapproval, displeasure or disdain. Now, what do you think was the chief criminal—milady's biscuits? No, no! Then, piecrust? Well, quite a few. Ah, so it was "eggs never cooked just right." Yes, a good many voted against the aigs, girls. But beyond that and "soggy french-fried" and "the steak she always blames on the butcher" stalks the worst offender of all, the big, bad wolf of the kitchen, Cooking Menace No. 1.

Nt's the coffee, ladies, that gets your men folks down. So they say. As one old-timer puts it, "She thinks I haven't time for coffee at home in the morning. Well, I've been getting mine downtown for years." Or according to a five-year husband, "She's a honey, but I'm a sap to put up with her coffee." But the cruellest thrust of all comes from a newly-wed who callously reported, "Our honeymoon was over when I first tasted what she calls coffee."

'Climate Best' Sign To Come Down Soon

Redwood City will lose its highway welcome sign in the face of progress within a few days, officials said this morning.

Because El Camino Real, 44 feet wide, is being broadened an additional 40 feet near Broadway, the welcome sign will be removed. "The sign, advertising 'Climate Best by Government Test,' was designed for a 44-foot wide road," explained City Manager C. L. Dimmitt. "Since the state is widening the thoroughfare, there is no way of suspending the sign above the middle of the highway."

Cost of constructing new supports spanning the highway for the sign would be several thousand dollars, Dimmitt has been informed.

"It may be erected at some other site if a satisfactory location is found," Dimmitt asserted.

Sign Language Courses Charged To Deaf Mute

Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton's court Tuesday was the scene of an arm-waving divorce trial in which all testimony by the immediate parties concerned was given in sign language while an interpreter translated it to the court. Both principals are deaf mutes.

Mrs. Eda Wheeler was granted an interlocutory decree from Charles Wheeler of Brisbane, the wife having filed a cross complaint to her husband's original allegation in which he charged her with "nagging" him and calling him "vile and abusive names."

In her cross complaint, Mrs. Wheeler denied the allegations and asked the divorce on grounds of desertion. She said her husband cursed her and quarreled with her—all in the sign language.

Mission Trails Building Is Razed

With cost of moving or dismantling and re-erecting found to be too costly, the Mission Trails Building on Treasure Island is being razed. The costly Spanish tile foundation—costly because the tile was burned in Valencia, Spain, before the recent Civil War—was sold to the City of San Mateo and will adorn the plaza of the city's new city hall.

THE STAMP ON YOUR BALLOT

WAS SCARCELY DRY

Last August, before your County Board of Supervisors, heady with success, launched their fourth and most daring attempt to disorganize the type of county government you, by your votes, have sustained three distinct and separate times.

Almost before the vote could be counted officially, the supervisors very conveniently produced a letter, purported to have been signed by ONLY four of the fifteen charter freeholders, asking a proposition be placed on the November ballot changing the County Executive back from an elective basis to appointment by the Supervisors. The Lonely Four either didn't consult the other 11 charter framers, or couldn't line them up.

The speed with which the supervisors granted this request set a new, all-time high, unbeaten and untied, for fast supervisory action in Redwood City. It was so fast that it would have been funny, if it wasn't so tricky.

Despite your three-time expression about the election of the County Executive, and the necessity of his office, the Supervisors forgot the fumbles, and started down the field with a little three-way work of their own. They didn't stop at one proposition, they put up three, and listed them according to their fond hopes.

HERE THEY ARE:

PROPOSITION NO. 1

Would change the office of County Executive from an elective basis, back to appointment by the Board of Supervisors.

You well remember the fiasco in county government, when this office was filled by supervisory appointment. You were so disgusted you voted not only that office, but virtually all others made appointive under the charter, back to an elective basis.

Three times you have sustained this choice, and repulsed efforts to have this office under supervisory domination. Do you see any reason to change it now?

If you want to retain control of your county government, and make your County Executive responsible, NOT to politicians, but directly to you, and you alone, then

VOTE "NO"

PROPOSITION NO. 2

In the absence of the County Executive makes the County Engineer acting executive, and in case of the County Engineer's inability to serve, and here it is again, gives the supervisors the right to name one of the other county officials as acting executive.

Literally, the minute the County Executive steps out of the courthouse the Supervisors can summon the engineer, if he be "friendly," or some other official to take over. The state law might have something to say about an elective official resigning one post, before he takes over another, but, be that as it may, you can readily see the "angle" here. Nice chance here for some of that "fast" work, like that given the four-freeholder letter.

You may be a little fed up with this, then—

VOTE "NO"

PROPOSITION NO. 3

Would give the County Executive NO authority over the payment of claims against the county.

Here, indeed, is an audacious bit of chicanery.

Proposition No. 3 shows better than anything else yet made public, just how much the Supervisors resent anyone making a check on what becomes of your money. If these claims are legitimate and honest, why should the Supervisors resent having them checked? Perhaps they know that you know if they had listened to the County Executive HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS OF YOUR MONEY WOULD NOT HAVE BEEN SPENT, and YOUR TAX RATE THIS YEAR WOULD BE LOWER.

If you want to continue knowing how your tax money is spent, then—

VOTE "NO"

PROPOSITION NO. 4

This would give the Supervisors authority to set up any form of Civil Service they desire for County Employees, and to include, in or out, whatever employees they desired.

A committee of capable citizens drafted a civil service plan, a carefully worked out worthy program, gave it to the County Executive, who in turn asked the Supervisors to put it on the ballot. They hastily threw up a barrage of excuses, preferred to take care of patronage matters themselves, and refused.

County Employees are entitled to all the protection Civil Service can give them from patronage-minded politicians, but figure out for yourself what kind of a break they are going to get, if these same politicians are permitted to set up their own form of Civil Service, if any? You pay for this, and you should decide what form it shall take. Taxpayers in other cities and counties do. If you want the same right, then—

Sweet Peas Planted Now Will Be Flowering Early

For Winter

Best Method Is Explained

By R. A. LANGLEY

"I know a man in Menlo Park," says Jimmy Kerr, Scotch seed expert, "who grows sweet peas that have vines measuring 36 feet. But who would want them except as a curiosity?"

You'll probably agree that, as far as you are concerned, the man in Menlo Park can have them. But of course you don't mean all sweet peas, because figures show that they are one of the most popular flowers of the world's gardens. Every garden should have some of these lovely legumes, and now is a good time to plant them in Central California.

Lovely as sweet peas are, they are likewise lively — meaning that they have such a will to grow, perpetuate their species, that they will reflect all benefits of environment in greater expansion. Nature has finally endowed them with such an adaptability that, of you dig a trench 12 feet deep, layering it with alternate soil and manure, the roots will, during the year, reach to that depth. If you provide them with strings going 20 feet in the air, they will, following their urge, wind their tendrils up to the top.

WILL ADJUST SELVES

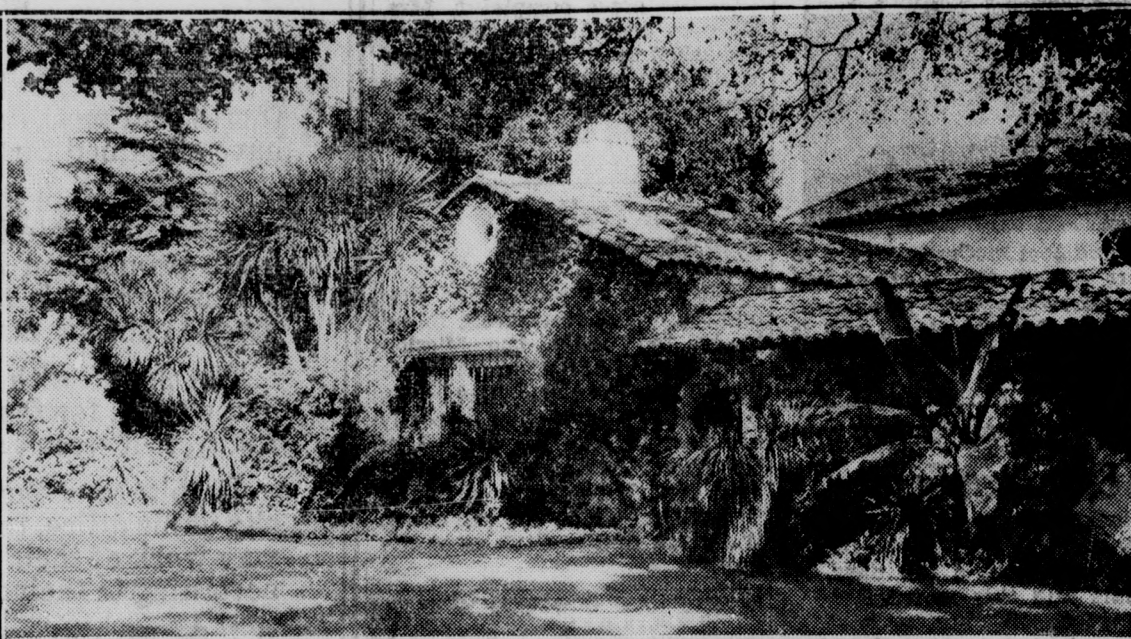

On the other hand, if the space available for roots extends only a matter of a few feet, and no strings or lattice is provided, then they will adjust themselves to those conditions, and to their instinctive best to make the most of the situation.

This fact is mentioned because there have been so many stories of the "requisites for growing sweet peas" that many gardeners who could enjoy them, home-grown, are scared away from trying. The average gardener will not accept too stiff a challenge.

By this I do not mean to say that there aren't certain conditions, say they be called economically best, for most of us to follow for maximum results. If you plant sweet peas immediately, they may flower by January.

Sweet peas prefer an open, sunny place in your garden. Although they will tolerate partial shade, the stems will not be as sturdy, nor the growth as compact. If you plan to train them up a wall, it should certainly have a southern exposure.

Story Tellers' Beautiful Garden

A view of the beautiful front gardens of Kathleen and Charles Norris, famous novelists, at the corner of Cowper and Melville Aves., Palo Alto. The grounds cover an acre and a half, and were originally landscaped in 1928. Note the plants so typical of the better gardens in California—the broad-leaf banana, the palms, the native live oaks. When at home, the Norris family makes the most of these gardens, makes the most of outdoor living, with a beautiful garden background.

18-INCH SPADING

The ground should be turned over to a depth of at least 18 inches. (Some gardeners report that they grow fine sweet peas in a bed that has only had a single spading, however.) The more thoroughly the seed bed is worked, the prouder you will be in a few months. Since the rainy season is coming up the seed bed must have drainage, or the seeds will rot. But then, most seed beds require good drainage for respectable results.

Like all leguminous plants, sweet peas have the ability to convert the nitrogen in the air to private purposes. That's fortunate, because they are big consumers of food, and the nitrogen bill is saved. However, the seed bed should be enriched with a good supply of phosphorus and potassium.

If you are buying your fertilizer in mixed form, select the kind having the smallest percentage of nitrogen content. And if you are planting the sweet peas in a bed you've previously made acid to meet the requirements of some other plants, it would be a good idea to add a pound or so of lime to every five square feet of seed bed.

As to texture, the seed bed should be medium — not too much clay—a loam that would be good for a vegetable garden. It should have a pH of about 7.0. The addition of enough manure to inoculate the soil will give you better plants. The manure carries bacteria which encourage the growth of the nitrogen-collecting nodules on the roots. If you cannot get any manure at all, then you will find several preparations on the market which carry the bacteria.

SOAK SEED

Once the seed bed is ready, it should be thoroughly soaked, and allowed to wait a day. (This isn't essential, as a moist bed is the requisite, and you can water well after planting.) Inspect your seeds, making sure that the seedcoat isn't so hard that water can't reach it for quick germination. If they are very hard (bounce when dropped something like marbles) then cut a shallow slice off one edge of the seed. Plant them about two inches deep, and then tamp the soil well.

Once the plants are above ground give them plenty of water. The bed should never get dry, and when the sweet peas are a foot high you can start feeding them the low-nitrogen fertilizer. Never forget that these plants are voracious feeders, and it's hard to waste food. They'll use it and give you more flowers in return.

WELL HED WALL

Sweet peas can be used to hide a monotonous wall (providing it has the southern exposure). And they can be planted in rows and tied to overhead wires, or they can be trained on trellises, or ornamental lattice work.

Some gardeners, taking a cue from the method of culture introduced by the large seed firms, are now planting the climbing varieties so densely in a bed that they support themselves. This has proven quite successful for color in amateur gardens.

Sweet peas are indeed a unique flower. They have been developed and hardened to the point where they can be planted with winter coming on, which is a culture we usually associate with perennials. And they have been so streamlined that, planted in the Fall, they will rush to bloom in Winter.

Rat Menace Not Serious in County

Dr. C. C. Gans, county director of health and welfare, pointing out that the rat menace to public health has become a national problem, said today that in San Mateo County "there are no widespread conditions where the rodent threat is of abnormal proportions."

Because of the problems raised by the menace of rats, the national defense program has placed a special emphasis on this situation, Dr. Gans said.

Persons in this county who believe that there is a local abnormal condition existing should notify the county department of public health and welfare, the health director stated, and an investigation will be made. Dr. Gans said his department is well equipped to handle rodent control and can instruct residents in means of abating the nuisance.

New Survey

California Building Costs Below National Average

Researches by Northern California Homes Foundation on the question of new-home costs continue to disclose reassuring facts on the economy of building now.

An example is the recent survey and analysis by the American Appraisal Co. of 30 U. S. cities on the trend of construction costs. This shows that, as a national average, building costs in June, 1940, were but 1 percent above the 1939 average, and that this level was maintained through July and August. This small percentage of increase holds good for the one Northern California city cited, San Francisco.

"With defense construction making such heavy demand on building materials and labor in the vicinity of San Francisco, this California item of the AAC survey indicates that home-building costs are maintaining an economy level throughout the Golden State," says Bernard B. Barber, chairman of Northern California Homes Foundation. "It is in line with other studies recently made, including a Federal Home Loan Bank Review report showing that 20 out of 24 representative cities surveyed in August had the same or lower building costs than in August and November, 1939."

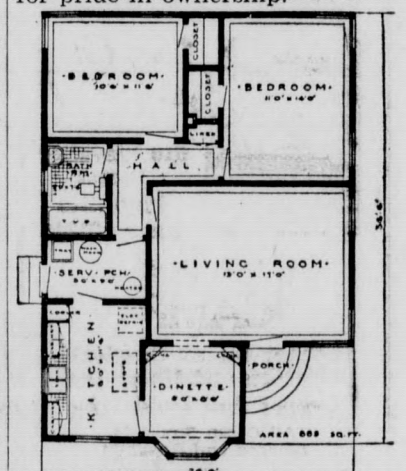

"These facts are stated because enemies of private enterprise in home building are again raising a false alarm on the cost of new-home ownership. They have taken advantage of the public knowledge that the government is doing a lot of short-term emergency building for defense purposes. They assume the public will take it for granted that this will raise the cost of building."

"The outstanding difference of the building industry from other important industries is that it is made up of small local units. Having no means of centralized defense, the industry is open to centralized attack by those who are vitally interested in breaking down private enterprise in the building field."

"No other industry suffered such a sharp and deep drop in the depression as building, and no other was so slow in coming back. It did not reach a real level of recovery until mid-year, 1936. Since that period the costs of home financing have been steadily reduced and home-loan terms extended under the FHA plan, and since that period building costs have stayed well in line with the economy level of 1936."

"This Fall saw a normal seasonal rising tendency in the costs of building. There is every indication that they are leveling off again, toward the usual late Fall and Winter course of the seasonal building letup."

The design issued by Northern California Homes Foundation this week is No. 4414DS, from the book of "Modern Low-Cost Homes." This is one of the most popular of the plans created for California retail lumber dealers, on the basis of their experience with regional tastes and needs in modern small dwellings. An interesting feature is the combination of living room, dinette, kitchen and service porch in the front of the home. Another is the unusual arrangement of hall and bedrooms. This is a home for convenient and healthful living, with an appearance that makes for pride in ownership.

Importance of Desks in Home Decoration Is Found

For the Home

Need Filled By Accessory

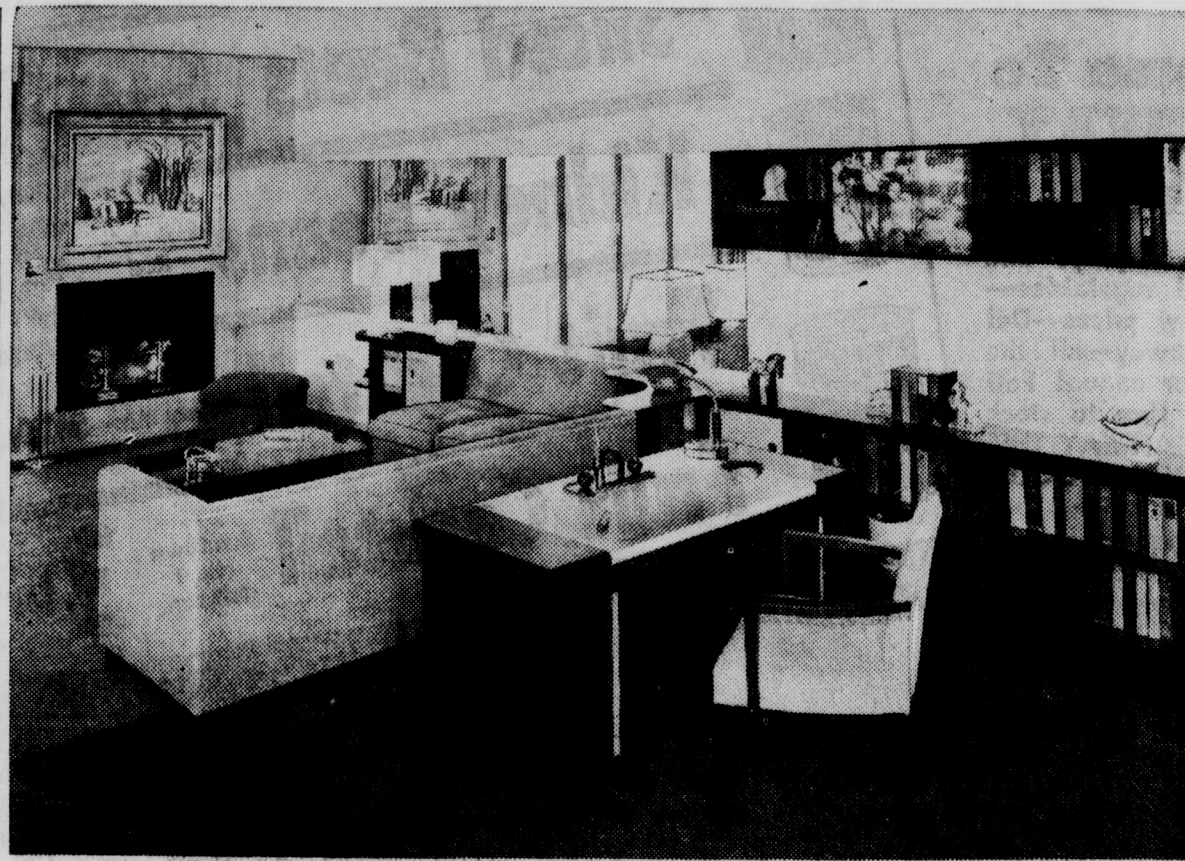

By MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

The well-placed, utilitarian desk usually is the most used and best loved piece of furniture in the living room. In addition, it often means the difference between a perfectly decorated room and one that seems to need something else.

Professional decorators are putting office desks in living rooms—small, compact types in rooms with little space to spare, larger varieties across ample windows or at right angles to wide wall panels. They still like secretaries and breakfronts, of course, but the flat-topped desk strikes their fancy at the moment.

It's smart to put a flat-topped desk—face out—in front of the windows in one end of a long, narrow living room, leaving adequate space between desk and windows for a comfortable desk chair and a waste basket. If you have an alcove, use a desk there, backed against the wall. A hand-painted wall paper panel, a long, narrow print, hanging bookshelves or a group of small prints may be used effectively on the wall behind the desk.

There's a new look about the furniture grouping which includes flat-topped desk and large sofa, placed back to back, with a coffee table in front of the sofa and a chair behind the desk. The desk lamp can double as a reading lamp for the sofa.

A beautiful walnut desk, in the new black walnut finish with white leather top and trim, is placed back to back with the sofa in this attractive modern living room. Thus a reading and writing nook is provided a little apart from the regular seating spaces in the room.

When there just isn't space for a desk in the living room, it's an excellent idea to put one in front of the bay windows in the dining room.

Designers of executive desks and of those for home living rooms are using walnut a great deal. There are handsome William and Mary and Queen Anne desks of burl and crotch walnut; Georgian types in kidney and kneehole shapes and, in the lighter group, Provincial desks in walnut that make perfect reading tables when they aren't being used as desks. Pine desks and both bleached and natural mahogany flat-top types also belong in 18th century schemes.

In modern style furniture, the walnut desks run all the way from palest putty-beige finishes to silver-gray bleachers and fawn tones and on into deep, rich natural browns. Newest of all is the black walnut finish, like the desk shown in the photograph here. This closely resembles eb-

4 Arrested In Millbrae Gaming Raid

Gamblers have been warned that San Mateo County will not be a healthy area for them, as a result of a Millbrae raid early Sunday.

A sheriff's posse swooped down on Alice's Inn on El Camino Real in Millbrae, found 18 men and two women in the establishment, confiscated $400 in cash, a slot machine and jailed four men on gambling charges.

The establishment had been under surveillance several days, Dist. Atty. Gilbert Ferrell said this morning, adding that:

"We don't propose to have any San Francisco gamblers squatting down there to conduct their nefarious activities."

"We had several complaints about that Millbrae place and referred the matter to the sheriff's office for attention. I have not had a chance to go into results of the raid, but undoubtedly persons involved will be prosecuted for violating state gambling laws."

The sheriff's forces, led by Undersheriff Lawrence Neri and including Deputies John O'Brien, Grover Mull and Walter Moore, invaded the well known night spot so quietly, house patrons did not realize a raid was under way.

The four jailed and subsequently released under $200 cash bail each, included Albert Barel, 27, co-owner of the inn; Harry Montague, 36, San Francisco; Joseph Sammut Jr., 23, San Bruno, and Julian Lebetzky, 32, San Francisco.

The quartet will appear before Justice Gus B. Risso in Burlingame.

him. There will be no discrimination by this administration." It was pointed out by FHA officials that this declaration of policy comes as an answer to thousands of inquiries from men subject to registration under the Selective Draft Act as to whether they should proceed at this time with plans to build, buy or modernize homes.

Draft Not To Affect FHA's Home Loans

The "all clear" signal for men of military age to enlist in the army of new home owners was sounded this week by Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald, according to instructions received by the Northern California district office, and telegrams to local FHA-approved lending institutions.

"There will be no discrimination by FHA against men of military age, and there should be none by institutions lending FHA-insured funds," said the housing executive. "In the extension of insurance, the possibilities of entrance into military service by any prospective borrower shall not militate against

Moral: Don't Stop Auto On the Beach

The moral to this story is: Don't stop your car on the beach to accommodate strangers.

Gerald Lee Simms, 20, of Moss Beach, did so Sunday at Rockaway Beach in northern San Mateo County. Result: The car became stuck in the sand and high tide submerged it.

Simms told the highway patrol that he was riding along the beach near the water's edge when a fisherman flagged him down to ask for a match.

While Simms was accommodating the stranger the incoming tide washed out the sand under the wheels of the car, leaving the vehicle stranded while the waves gradually washed over it—with young Simms helplessly looking on.

268 County Youngsters Given Aid by State

State Children's Aid supported 268 San Mateo County youngsters in September, 1940, at a cost of $5165.46, it was announced today by Martha A. Chickering, director of the State Department of Social Welfare.

The state's aid to needy children program helped 42,244 children in September at a cost of $812,454.16, the director reported. Her report revealed that the California program was surpassed in number of children aided only by Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan and Oklahoma.

The state old age security program helped 1071 in San Mateo County residents who received a total of $40,286.09. The program as a whole helped 146,685 persons at a total expenditure of $5,561,399.49 for an average payment of $37.91 a month, the highest in the nation.

SHORTRIDGE AT HOME

Samuel M. Shortridge, former United States senator, was reported resting easily at his home in Menlo Park today where he was taken Saturday evening from Mills Memorial Hospital. The 79-year-old ex-legislator suffered a stroke Friday at San Bruno.

14 Trophies For Parade

MENLO PARK — Fourteen trophies will be presented to entries in the parade which will feature the Camp Fremont Reunion at Menlo Park on Armistice Day. Any uniformed body may enter the parade. Those interested should communicate with L. L. Johnston, general chairman, Menlo Park.

In addition to the parade there will be brief ceremonies at Camp Fremont Memorial Park, with a speaker of wide reputation delivering the principal address. There will also be a program of sports at the city-owned Recreation Park in the afternoon.

Luncheon will be served to parade participants at the conclusion of the parade and ceremonies. The parade, under the direction of Floyd D. Granger of Redwood City will move at 10:30 a.m.

This is the third annual celebration of this nature held in Menlo Park, which in 1917 was the site of one of the greatest training camps in the nation. Thousands of veterans received their training here and annually return to relive the old days. The campsites are now a thriving city yet "vets" have no difficulty in locating many of the spots they frequented in war days.

Mrs. Rosenthal Dies In Palo Alto Hospital

Mrs. Mathilda Rosenthal, 68, of Beresford Ave., Redwood City, died Sunday at the Palo Alto Hospital. She is survived by her husband, Morris Rosenthal, and two daughters, Miss Ella Rosenthal and Mrs. Vera Eskin, all of Redwood City. Brothers and sisters live in the East.

Mrs. Rosenthal was born in Germany but came to the United States 48 years ago. She had lived in California for six years.

Decorations Are Offered

Assured of entries from Northern and Central San Mateo County in the torchlight parade at Redwood City the night of Nov. 4, Larry K. Hatlett, chairman of parade activities, has declared that all advance indications were that the line of march would be one of the most colorful events ever held in San Mateo County.

Revival of the old torchlight phase of political parades in itself will add color to the event, which is being staged under auspices of Young Republicans.

One division from the central part of San Mateo County will be that of the Junior College Young Republicans for Willkie. Non-partisan veterans from San Mateo, Burlingame, and Hillsborough are planning to be in the line of march. The junior college division will be under the direction of Jack Harkins.

Advices received by Hatlett from the south end of the county were that enthusiasm was being engendered for this parade, which will wind up with a mammoth bonfire rally in the parking lot next to the Southern Pacific station.

Numerous novelties in the way of floats and innovations are being planned for the parade. Entries now total over 50, including a tally ho and a Rolls Royce formerly the property of the Czar of Russia.

Decorations for automobiles may be secured by calling at the Willkie Volunteer Headquarters, 2395 Broadway, Redwood City (telephone 2634).

Entrants are urged to sign at once either at the Redwood City Tribune, 30 California St., Redwood City, or at the Willkie Volunteer Headquarters, 834 Main St., or Willkie Volunteer Headquarters.
